HIMALAYAN STORIES WITH HARISH KAPADIA

Sitting under the warm winter Sun, above the wide Beas valley and in front of the snow covered Himalaya, we listen to stories of Himalayan exploration, of adventure, fun, challenges, of people, food and culture. Harish Kapadia, the legendary explorer, climber, trekker, writer, takes us on a journey we will never forget. Add to this the daily short walks in and around Naggar, the erstwhile capital of Kullu and our stay at the 16th century Naggar castle, and we will have plenty of our own stories to take back home.

Naggar and the castle

Bounded on the North by the greater Himalayan range (Rohtang pass) and to the south by the open grounds of Kullu, Kullu valley is amongst the prettiest in the Indian Himalaya. WHAT TO GET ALONG?

The winters are just beginning to set in, so it wont be bitterly cold but pleasantly cold. Temp will range from close to zero in the night to 15 degrees Celsius during the day. We will be prepared accordingly. Woollen sweater, socks and caps, a warm jacket and comfortable walking shoes are a must. Layering is the key. A detailed checklist will be shared once you have signed up for the trip.

MAKING A CONTRIBUTION

There is always a way of giving back to the place and people where we go for our holidays. You can support the local handicraft weavers by buying your woolens from them directly and also local produce from small cooperatives. We will try and make an effort to understand the native way of life and their culture through interactions with the locals and visits to the temples.
